

WELL-STAGED museum pieces occupy three more walls as long as this and areas at each end of the building. Gifts of equipment are unending.

MUSEUM LIBRARIAN, Mrs. Merriam, checks a records file to meet a request for reference book. Friends help find rare books for shelves.

DITS AND DAHS of a ship's wireless, far at sea, are being copied by Mr. Merriam seated at an exact replica of a radio shack on Fall River Line boats.